Dear Sir,

I am writing to enquire about the feasibility of applying to your organization for research support. My interest has been in the field of regulation of elastin production, and previous studies have involved animal models of emphysema. Currently we are investigating matrix regulation of elastin production using a neonatal rat aortic smooth muscle cell system. We plan to utilize this system to study regulation of elastin production during development of the lung and in lung injury. If there is an interest please forward an application.

Sincerely,

Norman Soskel
